

EXHIBITOR OF THE DAY

Today's Valley Vet Exhibitor of the Day is Dr. Tracy Hull of Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

Hull has shown horses for over 50 years. Just five years ago, she traveled to the Pinto World Championship Show and fell in love with a pinto in the show ring. Fortunately, the horse was for sale. Two hours after riding him, she was the proud owner of BIG ONES ONLY who she calls Patrick. This is her second Congress with Patrick.

Hull's favorite part about Congress is entering a variety of classes and meeting people. She likes all English classes, but admits English equitation is her weakest class. "I like this class because I'm always striving to get better and improve my equitation skills," Hull said.

Hull's schedule is hectic so horse shows serve as much-needed vacations, she jokes. She is a surgeon at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio. She's also president of American Society of Colon and Rectal Surgeons. Hull has some recommendations for those new to the industry. Buy the right horse. Get a trainer (she's thankful for her trainer, Rusty Miller). Take lessons. Always continue to learn.

Congratulations to Hull on a job well done. Each day at Color Breed Congress an exhibitor will be selected to be featured on the official PtHA website at www.pinto.org and Facebook page. Each winner receives a $100 Valley Vet gift card.
